(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)

NEW YORK, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—Admitting freely that the Americans outplayed the British team in the recent Meadow Brook polo tournament and declaring that the games there were the fastest they had ever played, Captain Edward Frazer and Watson of the English team sailed today for Liverpool.

J. Lionel James, representative of the London Times, who sailed with the polo players, said: "The Americans were so fast the game was brutal."

It developed here today that Captain E. D. Miller, England's own umpire on the field, called the foul on Captain Chesapeake which cost England the final game.

LAND OWNING CLAUSE IN THE NEW TREATIES

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)

TOKIO, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—Japan has ratified the new commercial treaties with Austria and Italy, providing for the right of subjects of these countries to acquire and hold property in Japan, conditional on Austria and Italy granting Japanese similar rights.

As the law passed in the diet authorizing foreigners to own real estate in Japan is not yet in force, this clause for the present is without effect.

Preparing for the year's most important meeting of the board of commissioners of education, the department of public instruction and Superintendent Gibson are entered upon a busy week preparing the data which the meeting is to consider. This, it was stated yesterday, will be threefold. Relating to the appointment of teachers; the leaves of absence and other routine matters; and to the summer school.

The summer school is to be slightly enlarged in scope and is expected, according to department officials, to play a much more important part in Hawaiian education than it has, even in the past. Among the innovations which have been planned for this year is a course in folk dances under the physical culture head. Considerably more biological work will be included in the curriculum than has hitherto been the case.

The commission will convene at ten o'clock next Monday morning in the new rooms of the department in the judicial building and will continue in session throughout the week until the work before it is finished.

With the Anti-Saloon League lined up strong and the usual influences pulling this way and that in their annual effort to rearrange the liquor map of Honolulu, the liquor commission yesterday afternoon commenced the first of its annual license application meetings.

An important new policy was introduced in the attitude of the commission toward applicants while the anti-saloon league presented with a few additions, practically the same petitions with which it last year attempted to stop certain licenses.

In spite of the opposition of this body led by George W. Futz, its agent, the Rev. David C. Peters and John Starlin, only one license was denied and that was not on any grounds presented by the anti-liquor workers.

Kojima License Denied.

This license was that of Kojima, the wholesale merchant near the fishmarket. The charge that was brought up against him last year, that he was a non-resident, was again introduced and as it seemed fairly certain that he never intends to return to Hawaii his application for renewal was denied.

The anti-saloon people directed their efforts toward the Alaska street saloons and the new liquor houses proposed for the windward side of the island in the neighborhood of Waiahole. The latter were deferred, including the applications of R. Macfarlane and Theodore Bouman but the commission again granted the Alaska street saloon license in the face of opposition.

This opposition was threatened last year and the commission did not consider it unanimous enough to consider. It took the same attitude this year and the saloons, Paddy Ryan's Primo Bar and Jack Roberts' Kentucky Saloon, were renewed.

The anti-saloon people will also attempt to stop the license of Thos. McTigue & Company on the grounds that it is too near the fishmarket and that the empty lots about it are almost continually crowded with laborers in the process of getting drunk with liquor purchased there. This license has not yet come up.

Joel C. Cohen, who has for years been carrying on a general liquor agent business, for which a license has not been necessary but who was legitimated out of business this year, was given a license to continue his business.

In dealing with the wholesale house the commission made it plain that to hold the licenses it would be necessary to cure any case of itching blind, bleeding or protruding piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded.—Made by PARIS MEDICINE CO., Saint Louis U. S. A.

Arriving on the Siberia with the necessary papers for the extradition of Henry Molay Schwartz, Sergeant of Detectives David Murphy of San Francisco yesterday brought the first details of the charges upon which Schwartz is wanted in the Golden Gate city. The warrant is for passing bad checks on a bank in that city, and Sergeant Murphy will take him back on the Honolulu next week.

According to the San Francisco office, Schwartz appeared to have been living beyond his means, although he was drawing $100 a month in the navy pay office. He is a corporal in the marine corps, and thus liable to naval punishment for desertion as well as on the civil charge. He is said to have an excellent education and to have been universally liked and respected by the officers and those with whom he worked.

After passing, as alleged, one check for something over $500, he attempted to pass another one, but while the teller went back to look him up he became suspicious and called out, saying the police. Two hours later he was on the boat bound for Honolulu to which the police traced him, sending a description to the captain by wireless and instructions to the local police to hold him.

Schwartz is not expected to put up any fight against extradition. He has been inquiring for the San Francisco office frequently, and only seems to be concerned in getting away from prison fare and the local police receiving station as quickly as possible.

The extradition papers for Schwartz, which were approved by the attorney general yesterday afternoon, contain a copy of the letter the young man wrote to the Wells-Fargo Nevada National Bank, which, it is claimed, he defrauded, pleading for mercy on the same day that he was arrested.

"I refer to my overdraft of this date," he wrote. "I beg of you to allow me a short while to repay you every cent and a reasonable rate of interest."

"I want to go to a new field, away from old friends and associates, where I can start life over." In conclusion the letter read.

"I have never willfully deceived any one, and if given this opportunity I will, I swear before God, deny myself everything in order to repay you in full."

He also stated that it would be no use to attempt to recover the money in full at once because it had already gone to the payment of old debts.

Calls in the Newspapermen to Deny Reports in Circulation That Democratic Harmony Over the Proposed Reform of the Currency Has Been Destroyed—Cabinet Is in Accord.

EXPECTS REPUBLICANS TO HELP PASS THE BILL

Copies of the Measure Will Go to Currency Committee Today in Order That Members May Know in Advance—Bills and Message Will Be Presented on Monday in Both Houses.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—Breaking his established custom of talking to the newspaper men only at certain periods, President Wilson called the correspondents to his office today, in order, as he said, to refute reports that the Democratic leaders had disagreed in regard to the currency reform program.

He said that Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Senator Owen of Oklahoma and Representative Glass of Virginia, who are in charge of the proposed legislation, are in entire accord.

The President said his message to congress and a draft of the Currency Reform Bill would be presented Monday and that copies of the bill may be sent to the banking and currency committee of the senate and house tomorrow.

He declared he had decided upon this course in order to advise the Republican currency leaders, as well as the Democrats, in regard to his position.

Republican support of the bill is expected he said and he wished to avoid any charges that he had attempted to force the bill through congress on a partisan basis. Members of his cabinet and leaders in both houses, he insisted, were in entire accord.

GALVESTON, Texas, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—Three hundred and thirty-five American refugees from Mexico have reached here from Vera Cruz and Tampico. Two hundred of these passengers were women and children, many of them scantily clothed and showing the pinch of hunger on their faces.

Only one member of the party, a man, claimed to have sufficient money to pay his own fare from Galveston to his destination in the United States. Red Cross representatives will aid the others to get home.

Some of the refugees declared they had endured great hardships in reaching the American port. Some said the combatants on both sides raided Americans' property at will. A few asserted they had abandoned growing crops. Behind them, they said, they left other Americans making their way toward Tampico and Vera Cruz, where they considered that an American steamer shortly would pick up other refugees.

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—A big mining strike is likely to occur in Australia shortly. The miners of Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland and Tasmania have been discontented over the proposed wage non-monism and also with the contract method of working and demand a change.

At Chillagoe, in Queensland, where there are big copper mines, a strike of the contract men is threatened, while in Bendigo, one of the big mining cities of Victoria, the miners have stated that unless non-monism is joined the union shortly they will cease work.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(By Associated Press Cable to Star Bulletin).—In point of "inside" information today's hearing before the special committee investigating the charges of insidious lobbying was one of the most interesting to date.

Letters and telegrams from the private files of the forces working against the sugar bill were placed in evidence, purporting to show that the sugar interests furnished tariff arguments to the Republican campaigners during the campaign of 1912. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former head of the federal bureau of chemistry, is said to have been engaged to lecture.

Letters from the private files express doubt of Taft's ability to carry California, Utah, Idaho or Colorado and contained a conjecture as to the possibility of securing from him a promise to protect the sugar and tobacco industries.

Henry Oxnard and Truman Palmer, the best sugar representatives, have protested against the use as evidence of a letter from the latter to Attorney S. M. Ballou, representing the Hawaiian sugar planters. The letter gave details of the extensive publicity campaign, including the furnishing of material for the Republican handbook, to be used in the presidential campaign of 1912.

Further correspondence told of efforts to get Speaker Cannon to put friends on the ways and means committee, also to get friends on the Philippines committee of the senate. It was said that Aldrich would stand pat and try to keep the tariff revision bill in committee.

Count Zeppelin to Send Dirigible Out to Try Transatlantic Trip --German Warships to Line Route

LONDON, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—Count Zeppelin and his technical staff at Friedrichshafen are convinced that the modern dirigible airship can cross the Atlantic, says a Berlin dispatch to the London Express. "And it is probable that a voyage from Germany to New York will be undertaken this summer."

LONDON, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—A monster demonstration, planned by "non-militant" suffragettes, began this morning, when, accompanied by a band, fifty peaceful suffragettes left Newcastle on foot to walk to London, spreading their propaganda en route.

Similar detachments are to start from different parts of England later in the week, all converging on London, where they will arrive June 25. Suffragettes along the route of the march have been requested to arrange their detachments so as to join in the demonstration. Supporters of the cause in the different cities and towns visited are expected to aid the cause in every way possible.

MILITANTE START THEIR HUNGER STRIKE

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)

LONDON, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—Two militant suffragettes, Mrs. Marianne Hyde and Miss Bunting of the Women's Freedom League, were each sentenced to fourteen days imprisonment today for obstructing the police.

Miss Annie Kinney and the other militant leaders scattered yesterday have been on a hunger strike in the Holloway jail.

With large numbers of the faithful crowding about him clamoring for first-hand news, Lincoln I. McCardless returned yesterday morning from Washington and the quest of the governorship. He brought back the famous Link smile and happy assurance to everybody that he stood as good a chance as anybody, and perhaps a letter, of exceeding Governor Peary, but he had no details to add to the meager store treasured by Honolulu ancient the situation.

"I am satisfied," he announced, "that I am still in the game."

He admitted that neither the President nor Secretary Lane of the department of the interior had given him any assurances whatever or any other inkling as to how they stand on the question, but he is firmly convinced that they will act with deliberation. He also believes that the endorsements of the Democratic central committee here will assist him in the race here.

He states that he has many friends among the delegations from the various States in congress and that many influential men are busily advancing his claims.

Edward M. Watson, one of the numerous candidates for the governorship of the Territory, received assurance from Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi that he stood the best chance of being selected by the President for that post, according to a letter received here yesterday.

Mr. Watson, it is said, had an interview on the subject with Senator Williams who then visited President Wilson and immediately following the conference Senator Williams assured Mr. Watson that he was preferred above all other candidates by the administration.

Mr. Watson wrote recently from Chicago that he would return to Honolulu on the Manchuria which arrives from San Francisco July 2.

The proposed aviary for Kapiolani Park is likely to materialize within a few months. Yesterday, Mayor Fern informed Ellis Joseph, the Australian bird collector, that the board of supervisors would probably cable him at Sydney, when the Niagara arrived there to bring to Honolulu another collection of Australian birds, to be placed in an aviary in the park. The mayor said that Supervisors McClellan, Pettie and Wolter are now heartily in favor of building the aviary at Kapiolani Park as soon as the finances of the city's treasury would permit.

Joseph quoted prices of the birds to the mayor yesterday afternoon. The prices of the birds range from $7.50 to $25 per pair. The specimens include cockatoos, corollas, rosellas, parrots and swans.

"While the aviary is a temporary affair, I would advise the installation of large types of birds," said Joseph at the conference with Mayor Fern yesterday. "I mean by that husky strong birds, many species of which could live without segregation within the one confine."

Joseph left on the Niagara yesterday afternoon for Sydney. Mayor Fern noted his cable address in order to be able to reach him, when the board takes definite action in the matter.

With only one hundred and thirty-nine enlisted men and six officers on duty at the Camp Very marine barracks, and the barracks and quarters at Pearl Harbor approaching completion, Admiral Moore is seeking a larger command of marines. He has asked for 500 men to be stationed on Oahu, as Camp Very is large enough to accommodate that number.

Up to a year ago there were 400 marines on duty at the barracks. But drafts have been made upon this force from time to time it has been reduced to almost a corporal's guard. The commandant is hopeful that the command will be brought up to more dignified dimensions commensurate with the growing importance of the Honolulu and Pearl Harbor stations.

Major Jack Myers is now in command of the marines.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—Princess Abbie Kawanakoa, who has been on the Coast for some weeks, resting from her recent social whirl in New York and Washington, is still suffering from her injured knee and it is possible that this may hasten her return to Honolulu.

Count Zeppelin is said to have been in communication with the German government, "which is disposed to regard his plan favorably and in the event of the voyage being undertaken several German warships would be stationed in the Atlantic to render assistance. Count Zeppelin believes that with good weather the voyage could be made within three days."

A census of the deaf and dumb children residing on the Island of Oahu is now being made by the Woman's Cooperative League. This was brought out at the interesting quarterly meeting of the league held yesterday. The census work has been in progress for the past three months and though not completed, the members submitted a list of twenty names yesterday, all of children who are both deaf and dumb. At present there are no facilities in Honolulu for educating these unfortunate children, and practically all of them are further handicapped in not being able to either read or write.

This condition is to be brought to the attention of Superintendent Gibson and an effort made to have the board of education provide means for educating the deaf and dumb children in the island. It is believed there are at least fifty here who would be benefited by such an arrangement.

Mrs. F. W. Macfarlane presided at the meeting. The session was well attended and much interest was taken in the proceedings.

White Slavery Discussed.

The work that is being carried on by the league naturally brings the women into the study of the social evil. Many of the women yesterday spoke strongly on the subject and the league plans to make a study of it and to find a way to remedy the trouble. The two indictments made by the grand jury recently on white slave charges were discussed. The point was brought out that the only way to put a stop to these conditions is to drive prostitution out of the homes where children are being raised. In this way the little ones will be given a fair start in life, it was claimed.

Another point emphasized was that most of the girls who are led astray are mentally deficient, though they are not necessarily idiots. It was also said that no moral evasion will keep a feeble-minded girl or woman out of prostitution. It was clearly intimated that there is a great need for a home for feeble-minded women and girls in Honolulu. It is said that statistics show that ninety per cent of the girls in the local industrial school are weak-minded.

To Study Important Topics.

The women of the Cooperative League plan to study the topics that are interesting the whole world today. The Cooperative League feels that if a few of the conditions that have been brought before it were lessened, more of the broad-minded people of Honolulu many of these conditions would be changed.

An article on a moving picture portraying leprosy in Hawaii was brought to the attention of the league, and a letter will be forwarded to the national board of censorship, demanding that the picture be withdrawn from all motion picture houses, as it depicts scenes that create a false idea of the island.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(Special to The Advertiser).—Administration officials, apparently, are confident that the senate ultimately will approve the pending protocol providing for extension of five years of special arbitration treaties with various nations, in spite of opposition which has prevented certification up to this time.

The opposition has been based largely upon the contention that renewal of the treaty with Great Britain might compel the United States to submit the Panama Canal tolls question to arbitration, and state department officials are said to have urged that members of the senate eventually would be obliged to see that renewal of the treaty could have no bearing on this subject.

No steps so far have been taken toward renewing the treaty with Mexico, which expires June 27, the one with Sweden, which expires August 15, or the one with Japan, which expires August 24.

An interesting question has arisen as to the responsibility for the next move in the negotiation between the United States and Great Britain over the canal tolls question. The last note was presented by Ambassador Bryce on February 27, and officials evidently regarded it as demanding a reply.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McCandless were accompanied home on the Siberia yesterday by Miss M. O'Brien of Parkersburg, West Virginia. Mrs. O'Brien is their niece. She will spend the summer in Honolulu.
